CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK

The Conceptual Framework developed and adopted by the School of Education at the University of Mobile is based on the University's philosophy, mission, goals as well as essential knowledge, national professional standards, research, and sound teaching principles.

The Conceptual Framework includes the theme, purpose, mission, vision, philosophy, and goals for the School of Education. The theme, purpose, mission, vision, philosophy and goals are shared, articulated, and supported throughout the curriculum, in field experiences, and during student teaching/internships. The Conceptual Framework also includes the knowledge, skills, and dispositions that teacher candidates should acquire in order to become effective teachers. The components of the Conceptual Framework were developed after examining the following sources:

- Educational/Professional literature
- Professional State and National Standards
- The University mission, philosophy, and goals
- The School of Education philosophy, purpose, goals, and mission
- The 2013 Specialized Professional Organization (SPA) approved State programs for the School of Education
- National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS)
- Interstate New Teacher Assessment and Support Consortium (INTASC)

Faculty attended weekly meetings to write, reflect, compile and revise the Conceptual Framework. Copies of the Conceptual Framework Draft were shared with adjunct faculty, arts and sciences faculty, the Teacher Education Council, and students in selected classes so that all stakeholders could be involved in its development.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the School of Education is to offer programs leading to class B certification in the areas of early childhood education (P-3), elementary education (K-6), music education (P-12), physical education (P-12), and health (6-12) and physical education (P-12). Approved secondary class B certification areas (6-12) are biology, English language arts, history, and mathematics. Class A and Alternative Class A certification are offered in early childhood education (P-3) and elementary education (K-6).

MISSION

The mission of the School of Education is to prepare competent, committed, and caring professionals who foster academic, physical, social, and spiritual development in every student.

VISION

The School of Education at the University of Mobile promotes a vision for all teacher education candidates to become competent, committed, caring, lifelong learners who:

- understand and use a variety of instructional strategies
- practice critical thinking and reflective thinking
- communicate effectively
- use and integrate technology to enhance student learning
- understand and respect the diversity of students and all persons within the learning community
- use formal and informal assessment strategies

PHILOSOPHY

The School of Education, in keeping with the general philosophy of the University of Mobile, seeks to equip students for their future profession through rigorous academic preparation and spiritual transformation.

The primary concern of this school is to provide quality academic programs that encourage self-development and enable our graduates to develop professionally in an environment that emphasizes Christian ethical values.

Self-development encourages and guides the student in 1) developing a positive self-concept; 2) understanding and accepting others; 3) improving communication skills; and 4) developing and refining those attributes that enhance one's effectiveness in a caring approach to teaching and/or working with others.

Professional development guides the student in 1) developing a philosophy of education; 2) acquiring knowledge of the principles of human growth and development; 3) acquiring knowledge of the principles of learning and teaching; 4) acquiring skill in design and use of varied evaluation techniques; 5) developing competence in content and content strategies; 6) recognizing and providing for individual needs; and 7) developing professional attitudes.

Teachers must recognize and support the role of parents as children's first teachers. They must foster the development of empathy, social skills, and conflict resolution strategies that will enable students to work and live harmoniously with other people. Further, teachers need to nurture the development of a full range of emotions and their appropriate expression.

Teachers must provide music, drama, play, block building, and unstructured art activities through which muscle development and creativity evolve. In a similar manner, they must recognize individual differences in children and provide materials and activities that are developmentally appropriate for each of the children in their classrooms. Teachers need to skillfully use questioning techniques and firsthand experiences that enable children to construct their own knowledge as well as develop reasoning ability and divergent thinking.

KNOWLEDGE AND SKILLS

Competent and qualified teachers are essential to student learning. They must know the subjects they teach, know about teaching and learning and the development of skills and dispositions to help students learn. Teacher candidates must understand how to motivate students, manage classrooms, work and communicate with parents and colleagues, assess learning, and use a variety of teaching strategies (Johnson, Musial, Hall, Gollnick, & Dupuis, 2005).

To ensure that undergraduate and graduate teacher candidates in the School of Education at the University of Mobile are competent, committed, caring, lifelong learners each is required to demonstrate knowledge, skills, and competence as follows:

1. Know the subjects they teach
2. Know how to teach their subjects

DISPOSITIONS

Competent teachers care about their students. Competent, caring teachers understand, and respect students. Competent, caring teachers create productive learning environments which include safety, effective instruction, classroom order, and motivation. Competent, caring teachers are reflective practitioners who are thoughtful and analytical. Competent, caring teachers communicate effectively with parents, colleagues, and others (Kauchak & Eggen, 2005). Dispositions are the distinguishing qualities, values, belief, behaviors and professional ethics that define the personality of the School of Education, the faculty, and the undergraduate and graduate teacher candidates at the University of Mobile.

The following are the dispositions that the faculty at the University of Mobile consider necessary for faculty and teacher candidates:

2. Be enthusiastic about teaching and learning which includes creative expression, and critical and reflective thinking
3. Be committed to knowing and practicing professional ethics and standards
4. Be lifelong learners which includes research and reflection
5. Value and respect individual differences and personal needs of all students
6. Communicate and encourage high expectations in a democratic school environment
7. Apply faith to the profession

CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK DIVERSITY

At the University of Mobile, the EPP conceptual framework reflects commitment to preparing candidates to support learning for all students and provides a conceptual understanding of how dispositions, knowledge, and skills related to diversity are integrated throughout the total program.

Because the unit at University of Mobile believes that diversity is a reality in teaching (Farris, 2004) and that there is as much diversity within the United States as there is between this country and other industrial nations (Slavin, 2006), courses completed by candidates include issues of diversity related to goals and objectives of courses. According to research, at some point one-half of all children will live in a single-parent home and one-third will be poor (Hendrick & Weissman, 2006). Therefore, teacher candidates are assigned during field experiences and student teaching to classrooms in local schools which reflect varied racial groups, socio-economic backgrounds, geographical areas, and levels of ability. Field experiences within inclusion classrooms are part of coursework related to teaching children with exceptionalities.

During the final semesters of the program, prior to student teaching, candidates must demonstrate abilities to meet the needs of all students through the teaching of appropriate lessons to classes of diverse students. Candidates are supervised and evaluated by in-service teachers.

Assessment of candidates in all phases of the program examines knowledge, skills, performance, and dispositions applied to working effectively in the diverse communities of learners in today's schools.

CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK TECHNOLOGY

In today's society, professors, college students, and school-based professionals must be comfortable and conversant in the effective use of educational technologies (Bitter & Pierson, 2002). The University of Mobile explicitly recognizes the role that technology plays in academic communities by including a "basic use of computers" within its "Competency Requirements for Students at the University of Mobile" located in the student handbook.

Just as the University of Mobile is committed to the effective use of technology in college instruction, so too is the School of Education EPP committed to providing its teacher candidates with the skills, knowledge, and dispositions they need to use academic technology in their own learning and to advance the learning of all students in their charge. Research on technology and teacher instruction suggests "teacher education programs need to model technology use if pre-service teachers are to acquire the necessary expertise to integrate technology into their own teaching" (Kent & McNergney, 1999). The School of Education EPP is equally committed to providing its teacher candidates with an awareness of resources for adaptive assistive devices for students with special needs as well as knowledge of equity, ethics, legal, and human issues concerning use of computers and technology. The EPP vision and mission for academic technology is compatible with and guided by the University's commitment to technology. In 2005 the University implemented a network infrastructure that included an on-line registration component, electronic grading system, as well as an information advisory structure for faculty and staff. The EPP vision and mission continues to evolve as the Unit plans to expand this network program by developing a data collection component for the use of recording field experience and student teaching data for our teacher candidates.

CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK ASSESSMENT

Assessment is a necessary part of the education program at the University of Mobile. It "is the process of collecting, synthesizing, and interpreting information to aid in decision making" (Airasian, 2006, p.2). The EPP has an assessment system in place that collects and analyzes data on applicant qualifications, and candidate and graduate performance. The EPP operation also includes a plan to evaluate and improve the EPP and its program. Actual evidence is gathered from performance assessments to provide a true evaluation of teaching ability of University of Mobile teacher candidates. These assessments inform the EPP about areas of strengths and weaknesses for the purpose of ultimately improving teacher quality through program changes (Pecheone & Chung, 2006). At the heart of the EPP is the desire to ensure that all teacher candidates develop the knowledge and skills, goals, and dispositions so that all children they teach will learn.

The faculty of the School of Education at the University of Mobile has assumed the primary role for the development of the assessment system that is currently in place. This system includes a comprehensive set of measures that are used to monitor candidate qualifications, performances and data collection across all programs (Wineburg, 2006). The Unit has established an evidence-based approach to determine if a teacher possesses a sufficient level of knowledge and skill to perform effectively and responsibly. This plan is divided into four phases at strategic points where qualifications are checked along the continuum as the teacher candidate completes the graduation and certification requirements necessary for teaching. This assessment system aligns with the conceptual framework that the Unit established from national standards including CAEP, National Board Standards, and InTASC standards as well as from the State of Alabama standards.

TEACHER EDUCATION COUNCIL

The Teacher Education Council serves as an advisory body for the School of Education. It is composed of representatives from the School of Education, College of Arts and Sciences, University of Mobile colleges/schools, the administrative staff of the University of Mobile, local LEA representatives including superintendents, and the Alabama State Department of Education. It is important to note that a Memorandum of Agreement is signed with appropriate personnel of each local school district where field experience assignments and internships are completed.

It is the responsibility of the Teacher Education Council to approve students who are applying for admittance to teacher education program, to approve students for the student teaching experience, to make recommendations for needed new programs or changes to programs of teacher education, and to give guidance and support to the EPP. They shall design, implement and evaluate criteria for field experiences and internships so that teacher candidates and other professional school personnel develop and demonstrate the knowledge, skills and dispositions necessary to help all students learn. All EPP programs shall require extensive field experiences in diverse settings. 290-3-3-.02(6)(e)1.(i)

Pre-service field experiences are an essential component in the preparation and development of competent teachers in today's society. Achieving professional competency as a teacher requires the assistance and teamwork of the School of Education at the University of Mobile; the cooperating school system administrators, other local university field directors (two annual field director forums), supervisors, and teachers; and the students in the teacher education program. Field experiences provide the prospective teacher the opportunity to translate the student's educational background and theoretical knowledge into actual classroom experiences under the direction of an experienced teacher.

It is the responsibility of students to conduct themselves as guests of the local school during all field experiences. The following procedures should be observed for initiating field experiences:

- 1) The Director of Field Experiences in collaboration with school personnel places the students in a school assignment.
- 2) The student reports to the principal for teacher assignment.
- 3) The student signs in/out at the local school each visit (if required by school).
- 4) The student will wear a name tag.
- 5) The student records each experience in the Teacher log.
- 6) The student provides an evaluation form for the cooperating teacher.

Field experiences are scheduled to assist the student in: (1) identifying and understanding the behavior of children of various situations; and (2) using these understandings in planning learning experiences for children. Requirements and activities for field experiences vary among classes. The student should refer to the individual syllabus for specific requirements. The University of Mobile has endeavored to create an image of professional as well as academic and pedagogic preparation for future teachers, superior to other institutions of higher education. Because of these high standards, the School of Education requires a strict code of conduct and dress for preservice teacher education students. Students are required to adhere to a dress policy that reflects a professional demeanor. This requires male students to be attired in dress slacks, shirts, ties, and appropriate matching shoes. Physical Education majors must wear clothing appropriate to the season. Hair length and facial hair must be conservative and neat. Cologne or after shave lotion should be used conservatively.

Female students will wear dresses, skirts, or dress slacks with blouses, sweaters or jackets

(no denim). NO jeans of any kind, tight pants, capri pants or leggings will be allowed at any time. Skirt length, hair, make-up, and jewelry will be conservative. Perfume should be used sparingly due to allergies. Shoes should be appropriate and FLIP FLOPS are not appropriate. Special situations should be discussed with the university supervisor (such as wearing jeans on a field trip, or working in the classroom for workdays).

Any questions concerning dress will be addressed by the Dean of the School of Education.

DOCUMENTATION OF FIELD EXPERIENCE HOURS:

It is the student’s responsibility to keep a chart of accurate records for field experiences. This chart will show the variety of school settings that include all diversities and different ethnicities. The chart, for documentation, can be found in this Handbook (PINK form) . This completed chart will be required as part of the Student Teaching Application (green form).

Chart Entry Example:

Class	School Assignment	Cooperating Teacher	Grade Level	Hrs	Semester
TE 201	Dixon Elem.	Mrs. Horn	4 th	14 hrs.	FA 13

ALSDE Code 290-3-3-.02(e)1.(i)* Field experiences in Class B and Alternative Class A programs. All EPP shall require extensive field experiences in diverse and a variety of settings.

(ii) The majority of field experiences must occur in P-12 schools.

(iii) At least half of the field experiences shall be in the candidate’s teaching field or area of instructional support.

(iv) For early childhood education and early childhood special education programs, field experiences shall include placements in at least two of the three main types of early education settings [early school grades (K-3), child care centers and homes, and Head Start programs.] 290-3-3-.02(e)1.(i – iv).

The University of Mobile will determine the number of field hours required.

STUDENT TEACHING/INTERNSHIP

Student teaching, which occurs in the final year of the teacher education program, is an essential step in the development of good teachers. Achieving professional competence as a teacher requires a cooperative effort among the School of Education at the University of Mobile, the cooperating public school personnel, and the student teachers. Student teaching provides the prospective teacher the opportunity to translate the educational background and theoretical knowledge into actual classroom practice under the supervision of an experienced teacher. Opportunities are also provided for the participating educators to have profitable professional experiences and for the learning activities of the students to be enhanced.

Through intensive study and continuous evaluation, participants in the University of Mobile Teacher Education Program have made an effort to develop a program which provides experiences for the maximum professional growth of the student teachers. Beginning FALL 2018 and thereafter.....

SUBMIT THIS FORM WITH YOUR STUDENT TEACHING APPLICATION

If during student teaching, I earn a failing score on edTPA, I understand I will be unable to GRADUATE, in a major leading to a teaching certificate, until a PASSING score for edTPA has been earned. I also understand, I will have two (2) additional opportunities to submit any failed tasks. If the submission or attempt to pass edTPA goes into another semester, I understand I will be required to sign up for a three (3) hour edTPA Practicum Class in order to receive a P-12 placement to complete the entire edTPA portfolio again. There will be a course fee associated with this additional class. In addition, if I fail one or more tasks after the third attempt I will need to contact my academic advisor for options to graduate in a non-certification major.

For example:

- I complete all edTPA tasks and submit for the 1st time and FAIL one or more tasks >
- I resubmit all tasks failed for a second time and fail one or more tasks >
- At this point, I will only have ONE additional opportunity (3rd attempt) to submit and pass all edTPA tasks >
- If I have not passed all edTPA tasks after the THIRD submission/attempt, I must contact my academic advisor to explore other options for graduation.
